J. T. CARTLEDGE DEAD.

Former Citizen of Brazos County Died at Normangee.

The friends of J. T. Cartledge, a former Brazos County resident, will regret very much to learn of his death at his home in Normangee Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock, Dec. 5, after a very brief illness of one day with pneumonia. He was 57 years of age and was a resident of Brazos County for a number of years, making his home in the Prospect community. He was a progressive farmer and was among the leaders of the community during his residence there. He moved with his family to Normangee, Leon County, three years ago, where he has made his home since. He was a good Christian gentleman and was honest and upright in his dealings with his fellow men. His many friends express heartfelt sympathy for the members of the family in their great loss.

He is survived by his widow and seven children, two sons, Arthur and Paul Cartledge, and five daughters, Mrs. A. H. Humphreys of San Antonio and Misses Inez, Bessie, Winnie and Pearl Cartledge.

The remains were brought to Prospect for interment and were laid to rest Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the Klizer family burying ground.

AN APPRECIATED NOTICE.

Following is a tribute to which County Attorney Lamar Bethea is justly proud, and which is an extract from "The Story of Football in Texas" in the December issue of the Alcade, a monthly magazine of the affairs at the University of Texas, published by the ex-Students' Association. The extract was taken from a letter written by Jim Hart, a great Texas football star and is as follows:

"Lamar Bethea, now county attorney of Brazos County, tackled on the '97 and '98 teams, in another man who probably would have made any team that has ever represented Texas. Dave Edwards, coach of '98, not infrequently remarked to Bethea and his associates tackle on that team that if they would return with him to Princeton they would have no trouble in making the Princeton team, and Edwards meant what he said."

Despite the unusually low original price of these garments, and despite the fact that during the past week they were on sale at price reductions never before equalled so early in the season.
